In addition to repeated public statements of support, he used both his personal wealth and the resources of Kuhn Loeb to float large loans to Kerensky's regime. When Lenin and Trotsky seized power for themselves in November 1917, Schiff immediately rejected them, cut off further loans, started funding anti-Bolshevist groups, and even demanded that the Bolsheviks pay back some of the money he'd loaned Kerensky. Jerusalem, allowing for the expansion of Israeli settlements in the occupied territories and beyond, the US president has provided a de facto endorsement of the "Greater Israel" project as formulated under the Yinon Plan.• This design is not strictly a Zionist Project for the Middle East, it is an integral part of US foreign policy, namely Washington's intent to fracture and balkanize the Middle East. Trump's decision to recognize Jerusalem as Israel's capital is intended to trigger political instability throughout the region.• According to the founding father of Zionism Theodore Herzl, "the area of the Jewish State stretches: "From the Brook of Egypt to the Euphrates." According to Rabbi Fischmann, "The Promised Land extends from the River of Egypt up to the Euphrates, it includes parts of Syria and Lebanon."• When viewed in the current context, including the siege on Gaza, the Zionist Plan for the Middle East bears an intimate relationship to the 2003 invasion of Iraq, the 2006 war on Lebanon, the 2011 war on Libya, the ongoing wars on Syria, Iraq and Yemen, not to mention the political crisis in Saudi Arabia. • The "Greater Israel" project consists in weakening and eventually fracturing neighboring Arab states as part of a US-Israeli expansionist project, with the support of NATO and Saudi Arabia. In this regard, the Saudi-Israeli rapprochement is from Netanyahu's viewpoint a means to expanding Israel's spheres of influence in the Middle East as well as confronting Iran. The "Greater Israel" project is consistent with America's imperial design.

We have wars in the middle East for Israel and Israel alone.

Particularly since the late 1960s there have been close relations between Israel and the US, including at the military level. Yet there is no official military pact between them. The US has given Israel, since 1949, more than $124 billion in military aid. The Israeli military, mostly its air force, has been based on American weapon systems. The concept was that the US provides Israel with weapons but not troops, since Israel relies on its own. American weapons, Israeli blood.

In May 2018 the Trump administration withdrew from the Joint Comprehensive Plan

A big Israeli raid into the Jordanian-occupied West Bank targeting the village of Samua in November 1966, followed a land mine attack inside Israel.

The raid caused uproar among Palestinians in the West Bank. Hussein was aghast. He told the US Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) that for three years he had been in secret talks with Israel; his Israeli contacts had sent him assurances there would be no reprisals on the morning of the raid.

The Americans were sympathetic. They supported a resolution at the UN Security Council condemning the Samuaraid.

Back in Europe and by extension, America, Canada and Australia, the indigenous people cultures and nations have now lost the right to exist in their own homelands and are now facing extinction.

Jonathan Rudin, head of Aboriginal Legal Services of Canada. "It's the same story," he said at a Legal Aid Victoria event in Melbourne on Tuesday. Mass migration to urban areas was the biggest threat to indigenous peoples all over the world, a representative of the Indigenous People's Survival Foundation told the Forum. Indigenous areas like his in Pakistan's north-west region — an area of high, barren mountains dissected by fertile valleys — were changing rapidly as a result of pressure from outsiders' unyielding search for commercial gain and the ravages of climate change.

We are witnessing in today’s world an unprecedented level of human mobility. More people than ever before live in a country other than the one in which they were born. Migrants are present in all countries in the world. Most of them move without incident. In 2015, their number surpassed 244 million, growing at a rate faster than the world’s population. However, there are roughly 65 million forcibly displaced persons, including over 21 million refugees, 3 million asylum seekers and over 40 million internally displaced persons. In adopting the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development one year ago, we recognized clearly the positive contribution made by migrants for inclusive growth and sustainable development. Our world is a better place for that contribution. The benefits and opportunities of safe, orderly and regular migration are substantial and are often underestimated. Forced displacement and irregular migration in large movements, on the other hand, often present complex challenges.✅

growth rate of population in the present European Union oscillated between 0,5 and

1%. However, this trend changed dramatically in the 1960's and within one generation the growth rate slowed down to zero because of the steadily deteriorating total fertility rate. (Total fertility rate "TFR" is the average number of children that a woman, in all her lifetime, will give birth to.) This ratio was around 2,66 in the beginning of the 1960's and fell back to 1,46 by the end of the 1990's.✅

Since the 1980's the prospects for immigrants deteriorated. A substantial portion of the jobs the immigrants originally came for – largely in manufacturing – has gone. As a result unemployment rates among immigrants tend to be very high. Besides, there is a growing concern among the west-European population over the fast-growing Muslim communities.✅

If these tendencies prevail on long run in the future, by the end of the 22nd century, the original European population will decrease to one-fifth of the nowadays level, amounting to a mere 10% of the total.

If Europeans want to survive, irrespectively whether there is net immigration or not, they have to increase their total fertility rate up to 2.1.✅

★ Through the immigration law of 1965, a group of Jews including, Jacob Javits, Emanuel Cellar, Leo Pfefferformer president of American Jewish Congress, Norman Podhoretz writer and member of the council of foreign relations, decided that America would open its borders and become a melting pot.

It was absolutely understood by both restrictionists and antirestrictionists in Congress that Jewish organizations spearheaded opposition against the 1924 law's national origins, despite little public support. Jewish organizations also organized, funded and performed most of the work of a variety of umbrella organizations aimed at combating the 1924 law. The 1965 reform was thus not the result of popular pressure but rather of a 40-year program of activism. Rep. Michael Feighan did indeed shape family based immigration in the 1965 law. Indeed, it is noteworthy that well before the ultimate triumph of the Jewish policy on immigration, Javits (1951) authored an article entitled “Let’s open the gates” that proposed immigration level of 500,000 per year for 20 years with no restrictions on national origin. In 1961 Javits proposed a bill that “sought to destroy the [national origins quota system] by a flank attack and to increase quota and nonquota immigration”. In addition to provisions aimed at removing barriers due to race, ethnic and national origins, included in this bill was a provision that brothers, sisters, and married sons or daughters of United States citizens and their spouses and children who had become eligible under the quota system in legislation of 1957 be included as nonquota immigrants— an even more radical version of the provision whose incorporation in the 1965 law facilitated non-European immigration into the United States. Although this provision of Javit’s bill was not approved at the time, the bill’s proposals for softening previous restrictions on Asian and Black immigration as well as removing racial classification from visa documents (thus allowing unlimited nonquota immigration of Asians born in the Western Hemisphere) were approved.

2050, European-derived peoples will no longer be a majority of the population of America. Moreover, multiculturalism has already become a powerful ideological and political reality. Although the proponents of the 1965 legislation continued to insist that the bill would not affect the ethnic balance of the United States or even impact its culture, it is difficult to believe that at least some of the proponents were unaware of the eventual implications.

During the period between 1924 and 1965 Jewish interests were largely thwarted, but this did not prevent the ultimate triumph of the Jewish perspective on immigration. All told, by 2012 about 60,000 African refugees had come to Israel, some fleeing genocide in Darfur, others fleeing forced national service in Eritrea that this newspaper has called "slave-like." Then Israel erected a steel barrier at its border with Egypt's Sinai Desert and the influx stopped.

The protocols are said to be of a secret meeting of Jewish elites in which a master plan for world domination, a plan that would be accomplished over the next 100 years. The plan was laid out in chilling detail and precision. The protocols speak of a Jewish controlled world banking, world media, communism, liberalism and political parties of every type.

What most people missed though is the fact that the "Jews" accused of being behind the confirmation were all Democrats, and as liberals, they fought against Judge Kavanaugh, not in favor of him. Even billionaire George Soros who has Jewish Commenting on the criminal investigation, the press-secretary of the Ekaterinburg diocese, Boris Kosinsky, stated that a linguistic analysis of Neilus's book "Close to the Doors," which includes the "Protocols of the Elders of Zion" has been conducted many times and for many years none of the representatives of the "traditional religious orders" has had any objections to the author. Neilus was not a political but a spiritual writer, which, in B. Kosinsky's opinion, is reason enough to deny the presence of any incitement to religious enmity in his writings.

https://www.sova-center.ru/en/religion/publications/2003/04/d358/

THE "PROTOCOLS OF THE ELDERS OF ZION," a major source for most anti-Semitic conspiracy theories to this day, were written by an anonymous author working for the Okhrana, the Russian secret police, in Paris at the end of the 19th century.

The "protocols" are said to be the minutes of a conference of Jewish leaders drawing up plans to dominate the world. In the book, the "Elders of Zion" are accused of corrupting the country by spreading liberal ideas, undermining the rightful position of the nobility, stirring up social unrest and revolution.

The "Protocols" do not immediately draw much attention when published in Russia in 1905, but this changes after the Revolution. Anti-Bolshevists point to the "Protocols" to explain the sudden and radical changes in Russia and to justify anti-Semitic violence during the Civil War. In 1921 evidence is produced that the "Protocols" are a forgery: the author has plagiarized whole sections from a French publication of 1864 which was directed against Napoleon III and had nothing to do with Jews.

Before the cross of Christ, mankind was divided into two groups: Jews and Gentiles.

The Old and New Testaments both make very clear what caused this distinction. It was the covenants God had made with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and with their descendants through Moses. These covenants were for Israel alone and separated her from all other nations on the face of the earth, making God's "chosen people" absolutely unique. Israel was segregated from other peoples by the Mosaic law and by her special relationship with the One who calls Himself "the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob" (Leviticus:20:24,26, etc.).

The important distinction between Jews and Gentiles is maintained consistently throughout the Bible: " . . . so shall we be separated, I and thy people, from all the people that are upon the face of the earth" (Exodus:33:16);✅

"Because of this idea that Israel is a Jewish state for the Jewish people, the fact that these asylum seekers are not Jewish has made their lives so difficult here," he says. "It's made me feel I can't justify calling myself a Zionist anymore and has called into question many of my beliefs."

A graduate of the left-wing Hashomer Hatzair Zionist youth movement, the 24-year-old says she still believes in Zionism. "I view Zionism through a socialist lens where the term describes not only the Jewish right to self–determination in the land of Israel but the same right for all peoples, particularly the Palestinian people," she elaborates.

The Jewish people base their claim to the land of Israel on at least four premises: 1) God promised the land to the patriarch Abraham; 2) the Jewish people settled and developed the land; 3) the international community granted political sovereignty in Palestine to the Jewish people and 4) the territory was captured in defensive wars.

new currency called the Amero.

We have a system of “neo-feudalism” in which all of us and our national governments are enslaved to debt. This system is governed by the central banks and by the Bank for International Settlements, and it systematically transfers the wealth of the world out of our hands and into the hands of the global elite.

https://www.google.co.uk/amp/s/www.globalresearch.ca/world-bank-whistleblower-reveals-how-the-global-elite-rule-the-world/5353130/amp

In 1999, a professor of economics at Simon Fraser University in Vancouver published The Case for the Amero, a study that advanced the idea that the three North American countries would be better served by their having a common currency.

On 31 August 2007, radio host Hal Turner used images of the Amero tokens offered by Designs Computed as the basis for propagating a patently false tale about his having been given a “real” Amero coin on the sly by an anonymous Treasury agent, and that the existence of said coin was “proof” that the USA, Canada, and Mexico were “to be merged into a single new entity” known as the North American Union.

All of what we can see happening in the world is part of greater plans called the Agenda 21 Agenda 2030 and Vision 2050. These are the United Nations plans to depopulate the planet from 7.5 billion down to 500 million and then rule humanity under a communist One World government in the year 2030.

“people are waking to the UN destroying our national sovereignty through implementation of the UN’s 1975 Lima declaration and 1992 Rio declaration for 21st century global governance, often known as Agenda 21 – more recently as Agenda 2030.” Malcom Roberts Mainstream political figures in the US – among them former presidential candidates Ted Cruz and Newt Gingrich – have warned in dark terms about the danger posed by Agenda 21.

As the theory caught on among the Republican grassroots in the last decade, several US state houses passed resolutions condemning it, and Alabama even passed a law specifically aimed at its imagined danger to property rights.

However importantly, the Pope gave his stamp of approval for this insidious new Agenda 2030. He is probably the most politically powerful religious leader on the entire planet, and so his endorsement is huge, because hundreds of millions of people follow him with unquestioning faith.

The true agenda of Agenda 21 is to establish a global government, global economic system, and global religion. When UN Secretary General Ban Ki-Moon spoke of "a dream of a world of peace and dignity for all" this is no different than when the Communists promised the people a "workers paradise."

http://finalwakeupcall.info/en/2015/10/21/agenda-21-converted-into-2030/

Agenda 21 was frequently cited by conspiracy theorists, such as the John Birch Society, during the 1990s as a purported blueprint for implementing the New World Order and population control, then forgotten by them too.

In 2012, however, an "exposé" by former Fox News host Glenn Beck seized upon Agenda 21 as an attempt by radical Nazi communist homosexuals to "put their fangs into our communities and suck all the blood out of it, we will not be able to survive."

https://rationalwiki.org/wiki/Agenda_21

It's only recently that the focus of the country's anti-environmentalism movement has turned to urban planning. It may seem absurd, but as long as these types of strategies help to protect oil, gas, coal, logging, mining, ranchers, land developers, and other natural resource industry groups from government restrictions and fines, then we'll continue to hear about the threats to private property ownership that this "global socialist conspiracy" represents.✅

Purported remarks at a Bilderberg Group meeting in Baden-Baden, Germany in June 1991, as quoted in Programming, Pitfalls and Puppy-Dog Tales (1993) by Gyeorgos C. Hatonn, p. 65 and various nationalist tracts. The ultimate source for the quotation (i.e. the person who passed it on to the public) is never identified. In a 1993 interview, a secretary in Rockefeller's New York office told a college journalist that the quote "sounded" accurate. (Hearsay)

Sorry for the way this is put together but I have been quite busy with family and over the last few weeks

I would like to say that after looking through this film, and trying to find evidence that I only had the internet to verify or deny any of the evidence, and as I don't know if even these links are truth or not.

It is not ideal the way I have it completed but as I know this has dragged out for too long.

My apoligies, but the links are in order of the way the film plays and goes from the first few minutes to the last.

Europa, The last Battle part 6

FINDINGS FROM EPISODE NUMBER 6

DOCUMENT NO.103202/06 EXISTED SO CITED AS FACT

Document No.103202/06, which was signed by then Chief of Staff Kirill Meretskov in 1940, revealed that Stalin was preparing to invade Western Europe in July 1941 in a massive invasion called Operatsia Groza a.k.a Operation Thunderstorm.

It is dated 18 September 1940, three months before the German “Operation Barbarossa” was signed. After Georgy Zhukov became chief of the general staff in February 1941, the plan was called MP 41 a. k. a. Mobilisatsyonni Plan 41.

This can be found in the so-called “Osobaya Papka”, a file which contains about 100,000 Top Secret documents.

In his book “Ledokol” or “Icebreaker”, the Russian Jewish historian Victor Suvorov gives us compelling proof that Hitler was forced in to making pre-emptive strike against against the might of the soviet military, who were ready to invade and destroy the whole of Western Europe.

THE BOMBING OF DRESDEN CITED AS FACT

Winston Churchill appointed the Jewish Professor Lindemann, as his personal adviser.

Lindemann, decided that Germany would be subjected to area, carpet, saturation, or unrestricted-bombing or what the victims called at the time, terror bombing.

Lindemann had also suggested the bombing of German cities and that working class civilian areas were legitimate targets.

These bombings began on 10 August 1940 with the bombing of the small town of Freiburg.

The goal of the bombings was to break the german's spirit.

Between 1940 and 1945, there were 61 German cities with a combined total population of 25 million people, destroyed in the bombing campaigns by the allied forces.

The allies specifically targeted innocent civilians.

Many large cities such as Cologne or Essen experienced more than 250 raids each.

It seems that Winston Churchill's deliberate strategy was to kill as many German civilians as possible.

compares with a total EU population2 of 509,000,000 and works out to be an annual migration rate of 0.35% or one immigrant per 283 native citizens annually. The US admitted 1.18 million immigrants out of a total population of 317 million meaning their immigration rate is higher at 0.37%. Other countries have high absolute immigrant populations. Although comparable figures for Europe are difficult to find, it is interesting to note that the US, for example, has an immigrant population of 14.4% of the total citizenry3; Switzerland has 24.9%; Canada 21.9%. During the last decade4, 5,365,990 migrants entered Europe (roughly 1% of the population).

"…all white people are responsible for all the atrocity and oppression in the past and therefore must give up their nationality as payment for their atrocities." White guilt is a real phenomenon5 although its cause and consequence are not well documented. Judith Katz6 asserts that whites "tend to focus on getting acceptance and forgiveness rather than changing their own actions or beliefs."4 during anti-racism training. This could go some way to explaining why some (white) politicians are more amenable to allowing (non-white) immigration – particularly from countries with a colonial history. Other evidence7 shows that whites are susceptible to exploitation of white guilt by those purporting to be victims of it. However, a Guardian commentator8 argues that it is "reductionist" to assign political opinions to a collective guilt.

"These people… spread themselves throughout our society. They aim at positions… inside the organs of influence [such as] media, politics, education… moulding the minds of our children." I assume the speaker is referring to people with a left-wing white-guilt ideologies – although he seems to be describing a mythical group of people with whom he generically disagrees. This article9 argues that left-wing bias is alive and well in education. This thinktank article10 similarly finds. Voting figures for teachers show in a survey11 that 68% intended to vote Labour in 2015 vs. 8% Conservative. In terms of newspaper media, the public seem to rate them fairly evenly, with a more right-wing bias overall12. The political scene has a wide range of parties and viewpoints (by definition).

"…true international cooperation between the races between the nations can only come when we realize this truth when we realize that we are different." Jayme Louis Liardi argues here for nationalism, with tightly defined national borders and ethnic homogeneity within each country. My opinion (such that it is) is that it is not racist to argue in these terms because no bias is being shown against any one race. The argument here is not really fact checkable.

"So the question is, how do we maintain true diversity? Think of it this way: if you take all the colours and mix them into one it becomes a bleh yuckie colour. But if you keep the colours separate, they're vibrant and unique." In this segment, fit blonde argues over the definition of diversity. In essence, is diversity the result of mixing many races together into one, or it is the result of keeping their separate identities? An online dictionary definition of the word diverse13 reveals three definitions: 1 – difference; unlikeness, 2 – variety; multiformity, 3 – inclusion of individuals representing variety. The evidence in terms of definition seems to support separate identities. This is effectively an opposition to ethnic immigration (to Europe) and miscegenation in general – although neither is explicitly stated. The basis of this argument is the theory of anomie14 which "is a condition in which society provides little moral guidance to individuals. It is the breakdown of social bonds between an individual and the community, e.g., under unruly scenarios resulting in fragmentation of social identity and rejection of self-regulatory values."

"It's because [those national populations] been separate that they've become a distinct group with their own culture and look. It's the isolation which has allowed them to form a harmonious and group identity and flourish." This is part of a wider discussion of what nationalism is15, and it can be seen "as positive or negative depending further checking since the arguments are the same as those already stated. Noteworthy is that Ali was obviously black and his interview may have been included in the film to negate potential accusations of racism (a black man argues for racial segregation).

I don't want my children and my grandchildren to become a minority in the nation that their ancestors built. Jared Taylor (I think – he isn't named) argues that white people will be minorities in formerly white majority countries. In the USA by 2012, 50.4% of the citizens were not white16 Figures for Europe are harder to find. British cities have some data – such as Birmingham17 where 57% of the population are white, and London18 where 44.9% are. A survey showed19 that "there were more than 300 languages spoken in London and more than 50 non-indigenous communities with a population of more than 10,000." Other European cities may yield similar data. I have not checked that Europe was built by white men, but it's a safe bet(!)

"when the saracen hoards from far outside Europe swept right across that continent, and would have come on over our Britain too if they hadn't been stopped." (Oswald Mosley – I assume). Animations showing the spread of Islam throughout the world20 21. This animation shows the battles with the crusades vs. jihad22. That these battles took place is not seriously doubted. The implication is, of course, that Europe is being overrun with Islamic immigrants. According to a 2012 survey23, 2% of Europeans were Muslim. Other figures put the percentage at 6%24 or 3.2%25 (this the most recent – 2016 – figure).

Angry Australian:
Yes. Equality. Let’s all be the same. Let’s open the floodgates. Let’s give away our nationality that our ancestors worked so hard for. It’s only the concept of equality, the beautiful concept of absolute human sameness that can allow this to happen. And so if you want to fight Islam, you have to hit it at the core and the core is this egalitarian concept fronted by diversity inclusion. It installs into the hearts of those who believe it a revenge complex. People who believe all white people are responsible for all the atrocity and oppression in the past and therefore must give up their nationality as payment for their atrocities.
In the simplicity of this world view lies its charm. It’s so easy to understand. It puts a split right down the middle. You’re either with these people or against them. You’re either an anti-racist or a racist. These people are like a creech [?] and spread themselves throughout our society. They aim at positions in journalism, government. Inside the organs of influence. Inside media, politics, education especially. Moulding the minds of our children. And once they get in there they bury themselves in deep like ticks. Like an aggressive cancer. They spread themselves. These people must be expiated from our schools, from our media, like venom from a snake bite. Taken out. You cannot help them. You cannot change them.

[CAPTION] “Jayme Louis Liardi Author of Revelation: A Return to Virtue” Jayme:

True diversity comes from the realization that we are all different. And that these differences are what makes the world beautiful, makes it a beautiful place to live. Different seasons, the different colours. Different grasses, the different birds. Thousands and thousands of species of birds. If there was just a single species it would be quite boring. If we were all one grey blob our life would be boring. Why would we travel? If Italy wasn't Italy, why would we travel to Italy? You're a nationalist because you understand these things to be true. You're a nationalist because you oppose this globalization communist one world one nation one people fake reality. You're a nationalist because you're a realist, because you understand that we all have these differences.
It doesn't make one group better than the other per se. But it just means that in order to preserve the beauty of the world, pushing us all together is not going to make that thing, not going to make peace come.
We have to work in the confines of nature and nature says there were different and we're beautiful in our differences.
I'm this way because I am and that's a great thing. and you are the way they you are because of the way that the earth made you.
You're a nationalist because you understand that all of the diverse peoples of the earth Have a right to a positive self-actualizing, self-realization and a deep rooted sense of identity, a sense of belonging that each people has a right to their own self-actualization, to their own destiny.
What this means is a Japanese Japan. An English England and a Tibetan Tibet.

What this means is that each of us has this identity has a homeland and has our own sense of belonging.
In a true cooperation the true international cooperation between the races between the nation can only come when we realize this truth when we realize that we are different.
It doesn't mean that we can't work together but it means that we have to realize these differences.
Fit blonde:
So the question is, how do we maintain true diversity?
Think of it this way: if you take all the colours and mix them into one it becomes a bleh yuckie colour. But if you keep the colours separate, they're vibrant and unique. In order for all people in the world to remain unique it requires separation and the truth is the majority of people want to be with people who are like them. When I go to Japan I want to see Japanese people or Polish in Poland. It's because they've been flourish. Their ethnicity culture and spirituality are all intertwined. Part of the whole that makes up the nation. The world is made up of unique separate nations. A nation is a tribe of people who share ancestry history and culture. Each distinct tribe with their own language ethnicity and customs makes up the world's diversity. That is a wonderful thing it is true diversity. So the next time someone tells you a, white person, that you need diversity say 'no thanks we have all the diversity we need'.

MA: [...] black people must do something for themselves and not always beg white people to move in to their neighbourhoods.
And when you say integration, that comes with a marriage too, right?
And I'm sure no intelligent white person watching this show, in his or her right white mind, want black men and women marrying their white sons and daughters and in return introducing their grandchildren to half brown, kinky haired black people.
MP: I wouldn't. I wouldn't object to it.
MA: Well, you wouldn't. But I'm sure a lot of them would. What I'm trying to say is – well, you say that but you're on a show you gotta say that.
MP: No that's not true.
MA: Why would you want to do that?
MP: Because I don't think I'm any different to you, you see. MA: Oh we're much different. You know we're different. MP: Society's made us different.
MA: No, not society. God made us different.
MP: No no. we're just human beings. He made all of us.

MA: Listen, bluebirds fly with bluebirds. Red birds fly wanna be with red birds. Tell me when I'm wrong. Pigeons fly with pigeons.
MP: But we have intelligence.
MA: They don't have intelligence, and yet they stay together. We should have more intelligence than them, right?
They all got different cultures. The eagles like to hang out in the mountains. The buzzard like to fly in the desert.
MP: But there'd certainly be problems a buzzard mating with a sparrow, wouldn't there? Muhammad Ali with Muhammad Ali Jnr (Image: Ken Carl/Coleman-Rayner)
MA: Right. But we have problems too. I don't see no black and white couples in England or America walking around proud holding their children and going out.
MP: That's because society's fault. We've got to educate people.
MA: But life is too short for me to be doing that. I'd rather be reading to my own: I have a beautiful daughter, beautiful wife. They look like me, we all happy and I don't MP: I do understand. But I think it's sad that...

MA: It's ain't sad that I want my child to look like me? Every intelligent person wants their child to look like him. I'm sad because I want to bow out of my race and leave my beautiful identity? Chinese love Chinese. They love their little slant eyed, pale brown skinned babies. Pakistanis love their culture. Jewish people love their culture. A lot of Catholics want to marry Catholics because the want their religion to stay the same. Who would thought only of themselves and kill their race? You would hate other people if you don't want to stay who you are. No woman on this whole earth can please me and cook for me and socialise and talk to me like my American black woman. No woman can really identify with me and the way I act and the way I talk. And you can't take no Chinese man and give him no Puerto Rican woman and talking like they're in love and emotionally in love and physically. When really they're not happy because she got some Puerto Rican music, he's got him some Chinese music and they're going to be clashing all the time. You can do what you want. But it's nature to be with your own. I want to be with my own. I love my people and I don't hate nobody…

Jared Taylor?:

I don't want my children and my grandchildren to become a minority in the nation that their ancestors built. They're likely to become a despised and hated minority. And the way that people are being indoctrinated now to think the whites are responsible for everything that's ever gone wrong for non-whites anywhere in the world anytime in history. Just as in Israel, Israelis have a right to maintain a Jewish minority. In japan, the Japanese have the right to maintain a Japanese majority.

It's the same for Nigerians it's the same for practically every non-white country. It's only France for example. If the French wish to remain a majority, they're somehow hateful.

Like what, what is wrong with white Americans wanting their people, European stock, to remain a majority in the United States? We never voted to be dispossessed. We never vote to be swamped out and replaced by another people. This to me is a great injustice. What is happening in the United States today is a peaceful invasion, a non-military invasion, which white Americans have the power to stop, but have been psychologically disabled and unable to say 'no sorry this is a country that our ancestors built for us and we wish you well but you must flourish in your own country'. Whites are unable to say that and if and unless they are able to retrieve that capacity, they will be essentially shoved aside by others who have a very vivid sense of their own demographic destiny and will reduce us to a minority. And the same thing is happening in all white countries, at a greater or watch those nature documentaries on the cable. Yeah.

See the one about lions?
Yeah
This lion is the king of the jungle. Huge mane on the head. He's so big, he's so hot. He doesn't want to move. Now when the lion comes they start messing with him …his tail…. his ears. He doesn't do anything. The lioness, she starts messing with him. …control… still nothing.
[CAPTION] Liberty and a living planet will only be won when masculinity, its religion, its economics, its psychology and its sex is resisted and finally defeated.
Now the other animals, they notice this. They start moving. Jackals, hyenas, barking at him, laughing at him, and it was those who eat the food that's in his domain. They do this, and they get closer and closer and bolder and bolder till one day that lion gets up and tears the shit out of everybody. The lion eats everything it his path. Because every once in a while the lion has to show the jackals who he is. […….]

everything against them Governments, money, press, television. All the new forces are used against it. All the great forces, all the material parts of the world use that against them. And so, you are quite right I feel. And I don't underrate but I don't despair. and you shouldn't despair because you, like I have read something of history. You know something of the record of achievement of the European. And dark as this hour is, it's no darker, it's not as dark as some of the hours you've known in European history when everything was cowardice, treachery and betrayal. And when the saracen hoards from far outside Europe swept right across that continent, and would have come on over our Britain too if they hadn't been stopped. And it didn't only happen once, it's happened more than once. Small bands of men came together in revolution, in absolute determination giving themselves completely, and saying Europe shall live. And stood firm and faced the menace to Europe, it's values its civilisation the glory of its achievements. All those things in mortal danger. And they stood firm and faced it, they came together and more and more adding to their standards and those hoards were thrown back again and again and again. A European in triumph because they had a will and it can happen again…. We've got those forces against us (not those particular forces) but the power of money a power at best in some hands. all those material forces which governments wield today far more forces of corruption and oppression that didn't ought to be in the hands of gov-but despite all their power and democracy and freedom as we know well daily political struggle all those things are against us but if we can bring together with us enough of people like ourselves not only in britain but as we are doing in other countries of Europe and gradually that force mounts and gathers strength. Nowadays, just as much as in the past we can meet those dark forces which in another way threaten our European life with each other. We can get rid of those forces and in the end we can prevail and we can triumph. Its been done before and it can be done again. Our task is to do what we are doing and we began and finished nearly some 20 months ago as I speak tonight to bring together the best, the Europeans to get them to make decisions together to decide on the policy which I have described tonight that they would act and do these things together first great step … the usual trouble the difficulty the struggle to move forward always in human affairs the same story. With willpower, with…. and above all faith and belief overcomes all. Nothing matters so much as awakening our own people for as I labour in other lands with other friends and comrades of ours in to this immense concern is going to be Europe is going to save mankind. My friends it is an immense responsibility. You're living in an historic era. Remember that always. Live in that sense I beg of you, of history and destiny. When the period, this period comes to be written and then looked back at if we did right if we stood firm if we stood greatly it will be a matter of honour and of veneration of generations to come. I could not ask to live in any other moment of history than this because never has mankind never has the human species been confronted with such possibilities with such choices of disaster, or of greater heights or greater glory. My friends do live in that sense that you are Englishmen that you are European that you come from people who have faced off these odds again and again. That much is against you but you've got within you that will that spirit of faith and that belief which will lead the generations to come. And look back at you in the pages of history with the proud words 'to England, for Britain, to Europe….'

Important note from the filmmaker: I don't hate anyone on account of their race or skin-color. I completely oppose anyone who promotes violence or illegality.
Most immigrants would prefer to stay in their country if it was possible to live comfortably.
Whether it is Syria, Palestine, iran, france, Germany or Sweden – nobody wants to see their own country be ruined. Nobody wants to see their people destroyed or their cultural identity being erased.
This is why I believe that ethno-nationalists of all races must stand together against the threat of the cultural Marxist left and the globalist elite. Together, we must revive the traditional values that founded our civilization.
Regarding criticism of Jewish behaviour: In this film, I have strongly criticised the behavious of the organized International Jewry and I have openly questioned many aspects of the holocaust. I DON'T applaud or condone any alleged genocide.
If "Antisemitism" is hatred of all Jews on account oc theirrace, then I am not an Antisemite. If a Jew does something against the interests of the European people, he should be criticised like anyone else. He should not be attacked because he is a Jew, but neither should je be immune from criticism because he is a Jew.

The Journey Begins

Thanks for joining me!

Around the 10th October 2018, I watched a documentary on YouTube called ‘Europa, the last battle’. It is a 10 part documentary series concentrating on the Holodomor, and the first and second world wars.

so shocked was I at what I was seeing and hearing that it shook me to the core.

could the contents of the documentary be true?

Using my YouTube channel I asked for volunteers to help me research the facts presented in the documentary.

Out of the volunteers, 19 people were chosen to assist me, I chose them out from their age and country of residence, I chose 10 men and 9 women.

I wanted as broad a spectrum as possible, so, I chose people who ranged from the ages of 20 to the age of 71, from the following countries, The United Kingdom, Scotland, Ireland, The United States of America , Canada and Australia.

I have uploaded the results of the research, each on its separate blog due to the size of the files.

My aim is to raise awareness of what ACTUALLY happened during these wars.
